Professional Mental Health Consultation That Makes a Difference

Have you ever struggled to make a decision? Especially one that might have serious financial or legal consequences? In the early days of professional mental health services the greatest problem we faced was coming up with an appropriate treatment plan.

Now we must juggle state, local and federal regulations, third-party reimbursement problems, legal liability, subpoenas, court orders, etc. It seems the more we want to accomplish with our clients, the more closed doors we encounter.

Wouldn't it be nice to limit the stress of practicing your profession to making appropriate decisions that relate to your clients' well being instead of all the other distractions?

A professional mental health consultant may be the key you looking for.

Closed doors lead to frustration and poor quality care

Larry E. Shyers, Ph.D.

Dr. Shyers has been in private practice as a Licensed Mental Health Counselor for over 29 years. During that time he has provided expert advice to hundreds of individuals, groups, and mental health organizations. All mental health professionals, regardless of license held, experience similar dilemmas. Dr. Shyers has been able to assist practitioners from all licensed categories.

Dr. Shyers' resume includes over 31 years of teaching at the graduate level; 8 years of service on the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling (6 years as the Board Chairman); and service on one of the state's probable cause panels. He has received numerous awards for his work as an advocate for mental health professionals.

Fees and Appointments

Dr. Shyers is available for face to face appointments by calling the office at (352)383-2194. Consultation is also available by phone and email. Fees are based on amount of time required and can be discussed during the first contact. Fees can be paid by check, cash or credit card.

Limitations

Although Dr. Shyers has had much experience dealing with the legal system during his career and can help you avoid some common mistakes, he is not an attorney. It is important to seek the services of a competent attorney for advice of a legal nature.

Also, since Dr. Shyers continues to serve on one of the state's probable cause panels, he can not provide consultation if you have an action pending before one of the state's regulatory boards.

Don't allow closed doors limit your abilities.
